Components with a bolded border are generally meant to be run by users. Components with a dashed border are created by the scripts, and do not come with an original source distribution.

All of these components can also be run by rp-mt-scripts-graphical.py, which is a simple wrapper around the shell scripts that do the work.